ICI Announces the Launch of Lincoln Sign Shop

Illinois Correctional Industries now offers a full line of sign products, a smart solution for your organization.

Illinois Correctional Industries is proud to announce the launch of the Lincoln Sign Shop, the culmination of six years of planning and development. With the addition of the Sign Shop, ICI now offers the widest range of high-visibility reflective signage in the State of Illinois.

Shop foreman and ICI veteran Brian Camp recently approved the first shipment to the Illinois Department of Transportation for hiking and sight-seeing paths in Rock River Trail Scenic and Historic Route, a 155-mile nature walk that spans six northern Illinois counties and five in Wisconsin. Additional orders are being tailored to the needs of towns, villages, state agencies, park districts, and schools across Illinois.

A trained and certified staff of 4-5 offenders at Lincoln Correctional Industries use precision equipment to design and manufacture custom signs for individual customer needs. In everything we do, ICI aims to rehabilitate offenders through intensive job training programs. ICI sign manufacturers gain machining and welding, technical drawing, and computer programming experience that private employers seek.

To learn more about our line of sign products, call Scott Stahlman in our Marketing Department at (217) 558-2200 x7028 or Lincoln Sign Shop foreman Brian Camp at (217) 735-5411 x6155. Be sure to visit our website www.ici.illinois.gov to shop the full line of quality ICI products!

TRUE STORIES From ILLINOIS CORRECTIONAL INDUSTRIES

Adam Shelton,
Ten years with ICI:

"...People in prison are thirsty to learn a new skill, to discover what it takes to be proficient at something, to see for the first time a project from idea to fruition, and ICI provides the necessary tools to do all of those things.

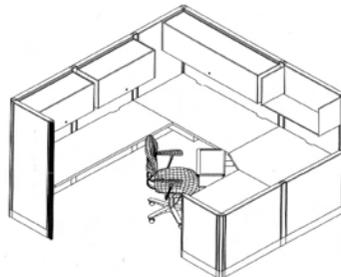

When I first came to prison, my only skill was being mad at the world and getting in trouble. I had no skill set, no education. I first started working with ICI at the bakery in Canton, Illinois. The boss said he needed a new computer program to be written, but he didn't have anyone to do it. I volunteered and spent the next nine-plus years teaching myself programming and writing various computer programs for the state.

In addition to learning a skill I could not have found in any other corner of the prison system, I was able to use my ICI paycheck to take all necessary correspondence courses to earn advanced degrees in business management and literature. However, the most important thing I have gained from ICI is the normalcy of employment, to constantly work on something that actually matters in a place where very little matters to anyone..."

ICI Modular Office Systems Durable, Custom-Made to Your Office Needs

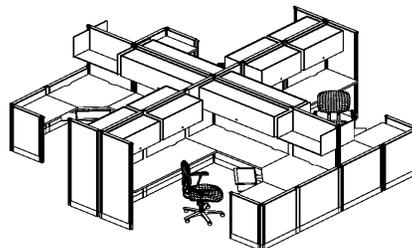

One of the best-kept secrets in Illinois government is that 90% of state offices statewide are home to Illinois Correctional Industries' custom-made Modular Office Systems. If you work for the state of Illinois, chances are, your modular office furniture was designed and built by our offender-workers at Stateville Correctional Center.

ICI Modular Office Systems is the smart solution your office is looking for. An easy way to optimize space, durable modular panels are beautifully engineered for use as individual units or a completely integrated office.
